TransCanada supports the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe emergency communication system.

Cass Lake, Minnesota – May 8, 2012 – Bob Hopkins, U.S. Tribal Liaison for TransCanada, presented the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe Emergency Response Department a check for $50,000 on May 1, 2012 for the Leech Lake Emergency Interoperability Project. The support is part of TransCanada's investment in the areas where they operate and do business.

"The donation from TransCanada will make a difference in moving the emergency system forward, and we're happy to be a supporting partner on this project," says Vern Meier, Vice President, U.S. Pipeline Operations for TransCanada. The Project will allow for the State of Minnesota to have common backbone of radio systems.

The Leech Lake Interoperability Project is designed to create a unified tribal reservation band emergency communication system as part of the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe and the State of Minnesota Participation Plan. The Participation Plan accounts for all tribal departments that would need to respond to daily emergencies, and those responding to a reservation or county emergency or disaster. It is intended to integrate with the statewide communication system that allows the Leech Lake tribal government to respond to State and National emergencies and disasters. The Plan includes the purchase of all required equipment, system training, and system testing; and should be in full operation by November 2012. The system allows all bands, upon the State of Minnesota ARMER conversion, to continue to operate emergency ambulance and rescue services. It also aids in honoring our Medical Mutual Aid agreement within the four counties of Itasca, Beltrami, Cass and Hubbard, as well as our Cooperative Law Enforcement agreement with those same counties of which are all asset areas for TransCanada.

With more than 60 years experience, TransCanada is a leader in the responsible development and reliable operation of North American energy infrastructure including natural gas and oil pipelines, power generation and gas storage facilities. TransCanada operates a network of natural gas pipelines that extends more than 68,500 kilometres (42,500 miles), tapping into virtually all major gas supply basins in North America. TransCanada is one of the continent's largest providers of gas storage and related services with approximately 380 billion cubic feet of storage capacity. A growing independent power producer, TransCanada owns or has interests in over 10,800 megawatts of power generation in Canada and the United States. TransCanada is developing one of North America's largest oil delivery systems. TransCanada's common shares trade on the Toronto and New York stock exchanges under the symbol TRP. ## Leech Lake Health Division Awards Terence P. O'Connor

Joel Bedeau and Terry O'Connor

On behalf of the Leech Lake Health Division we would like to present you, Terence P. O'Connor, with this plaque acknowledging your three years of work and leadership to the implementation of the Leech Lake Reservation "Allied Response Matrix Emergency Response System" (ARMER). You have been instrumental in facilitating the acceptance of the Leech Lake participation, by the state of MN, making us the first tribe in the state to accomplish this milestone. In addition, your on going commitment to the project has been essential to the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe holding designated seats and voting rights on the regional radio board and therefore allowing us to be veiwed by the region and state as equal to all counties and eligible for equitable distribution of state radio funding. Your dedication to the tribal wide system, management of all ARMER related grants and vision for the reservation ARMER system greatly benefits the residents of our reservation.

Lucas Bratvold Receives the Prestigious Udall Scholarship.

The Udall Foundation announced Leech Lake Tribal College student Lucas Bratvold as one of 80 students selected - from a total of 585 candidates nominated by 274 colleges and universities - as a 2012 Udall Scholar.

The 2012 Udall Scholars will assemble Aug. 8-12, in Tucson, Ariz., to receive their awards and meet policymakers and community leaders in environmental fields, tribal health care and governance. Each scholarship provides up to $5,000 for the scholar's junior or senior year.

The Udall Foundation is an independent federal agency that was established by Congress in 1992 to provide federally-funded scholarships for college students who intend to pursue careers related to the environment, as well as to American Indian students who are pursuing tribal public policy or health care careers.

Prior to enrolling at LLTC, Bratvold, an enrolled member of the Red Lake Band of Ojibwe, served six years in the U.S. Air Force. He is an honor student and one of only two U.S. tribal college students selected for this prestigious award.

LLTC Student Selected for Costa Rica Internship

First-year Leech Lake Tribal College Student, Cedric Fairbanks, has been accepted into a select 2012 summer internship in Costa Rica by the Organization for Tropical Studies through its Native American and Pacific Islander Research Education (NAPIRE) program. Cedric will spend eight weeks this summer in Costa Rica conducting research on mammal behavior and tropical biology under the supervision of a research mentor.

The Organization for Tropical Studies (OTS) is a nonprofit consortium of over 60 universities and research institutions from the United States, Costa Rica, Australia, Mexico, Perú and South Africa. Since 1963, OTS has provided leadership in education, research, and the responsible use of natural resources in the tropics.

The NAPIRE program provides a graduate-level research experience to about 20 undergraduate students from the United States and Pacific Islands each year. The program is designed to provide an understanding of tropical ecology that is grounded in a foundation of the social, political, economic, and scientific aspects of resource use and conservation. The combination of theoretical research and hands-on field work in one of the world's most diverse ecosystems makes this a unique experience for the students involved.

After completing his studies at Leech Lake Tribal College, Fairbanks plans on pursuing a four-year degree and a career in an environmental science-related field.
