Greetings fellow Band Members and Friends of the Leech Lake Nation. During the last year the Tribal Council and the Band has been working on emphasizing our Mission Statement and satisfying those concepts: "The Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe is committed to the responsible operation of our government, preservation our heritage, promotion of our sovereignty, and the protection of natural resources for our elders and future generations, while enhancing the health, economic well-being, education, & our inherent right to live as Ojibwe People." Throughout the year the Band has made strides in become more fiscally responsible and stable. Our Gaming revenues have increased over the last five years to help support our Government operations to assist in providing more services to our government entities, housing, and Tribal College. Our divisions have become more fiscally responsible in their budgeting and monitoring of their spending. By doing all of this the Band is able to start new programs, create more jobs, and increase assistance to our band members.

During last year the Band was able to build relationships and reconnect with outside entities to establish positive relationships. With the Executive Administration we are also able to continue to build communication within Leech Lake Nation. We are establishing good working relationships within our organizations, Federal and State entities, and local organizations to help implement positive growth on Leech Lake.

This last year the Bands programs have made strides in all areas. We have been working on new economic initiatives and new infrastructure. The government center will be open in October 2013, The 40 unit assistant living complex will be opened 2014, the tribal college library will be opening 2014-2015, Indian Health Service will have their expansion completed in 2014-2015, and new programs are in process. This is a new and exciting time and these are the major highlights of our successes and there is more to come in the next year. Throughout this annual report we are highlighting several projects that have been completed or are in the phases to be completed by next fiscal year. There are several positive projects at hand and the Leech Lake Nation is heading into a new chapter of our future that is rapidly approaching. We are continuing to build our Nation and working with the Band Members and other entities to help us along our path, and reigning in the spending was a huge part of getting the Leech Lake Band back on track.

Knowledge Is Power-Taking Control Of Your Health Through Knowing Your Health Information

The Cass Lake USPHS Indian Hospital (CLIH) is participating in the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services Meaningful Use Program (MUP). This program is designed to help doctors and hospitals use computerized health records to improve the care patients receive. CLIH has been using the Indian Health Service's computerized health records program, "EHR" since 2007. The MUP will help CLIH improve the care it provides its patients by making better use of its EHR and by connecting patients with their health information, they can know more about their medical conditions, medications, lab tests, and needed health screenings.

Beginning in October, CLIH will begin to provide all patients who show up for a clinic visit with a sheet of their important health information to look over and write down any changes or questions they have for their provider, before their visit. The sheet will have information about their current medical conditions, allergies, medications, and selected lab tests. The goal is for patients to know their health information better, to help them think of questions or concerns they have for their provider, and, to use their health information to work with their providers to make the most of their visits. Patients will be given an updated health information sheet after their visit to stay on top of their health and wellness goals and any follow up visits needed.

In the coming year, patients will be able to view and access their health information online through the Indian Health Service's Personal Health Record (PHR). This will be a quick and easy way for patients to see their health information, and, even send messages to their providers through the website. It will also give patients a "paperless" way of having their most up to date health information available to them, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. If CLIH is your healthcare home, please let us know if you have internet access next time you come in so we can continue our preparations for this exciting new way to make your health information available to you. To learn more about the PHR, go to the following webpage:

Cass Lake Clinic Expansion Project

The number one question surrounding the Cass Lake Clinic Expansion Project is "Why aren't we building a new Hospital"? This very question was placed on the table to Indian Health Service Area Office personnel in a meeting held earlier this spring. Their answer was quite simple and to the point.

The Indian Health Service nation wide has seventeen new Hospital Facilities on their priority list slated for construction. The Leech Lake Band request for a new facility is not on this list. If funded by congress, it is estimated the construction of these seventeen facilities will take fifteen to twenty years to complete. The fact is, the Indian Health Service cannot fund a new hospital for the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe for at least an estimated fifteen to twenty years.

Another fact. Based on the number of patients seen at the Cass Lake Clinic, the present Clinic staff have one-third the floor space required for them to do their jobs properly according to IHS guidelines. The Clinic staff needs the additional floor space in order to provide our people with better health care. And this would be the basis for the expansion project.

The Cass Lake Clinic Expansion project will increase the present facility by an estimated 25,000 sqft and remodel an additional 8,000 sqft of the existing building. The project will be completed in four phases and is estimated to take two years to complete. This project is scheduled to break ground early next construction season.

The new expansion will house an additional 24 Exam rooms, consultation offices, a Podiatry office and a new Physical Therapy area. The existing hospital will be remodeled to expand the Urgent Care Clinic, the Pharmacy and Laboratory. The floor space has been designed to separate the flow of patients so that there should be no congestion in any one area of the Clinic.

This expansion will be an extremely difficult project to construct. Inconveniences to the general public will be unavoidable during construction. However, by phasing the project, the clinic doors will always remain open to all those wishing to see a doctor or to pick up medications.

Fish Stocking LLBO Lakes

In July, we offered a look into the Leech Lake Band's fish-stocking efforts. We published the first half of two aspects of fish-stocking. The first area dealt with why the populations of fish has changed. In this next installment we are offering answers to the question: Is stocking the best option to alter the population change?

Stocking is usually conducted to augment a fish population that has declined. The best option is to correct the reason for the decline and stocking should be used as a last option, but it is often viewed by the public as the first solution. If pollution of a lake is the problem, cleaning up the source of the problem would be the best option unless winter kill has resulted in a major loss of the fish population. If over harvest is the issue more restrictive seasons of limits are in order.

Another reason we sometimes stock is to set back the basic aging of a lake. As a lake ages it becomes shallower and more productive, and as a consequence the fish population will change. In this area we have lots of lakes that are walleye lakes that will change to more of a bass pan fish lake over time. This is natural and has accelerated due to a warming of the climate. As a consequence the wind-swept rocky gravel shoreline and streams that walleye need to spawn are lost so they can no longer reproduce. Stocking these waters will sometime keep walleyes as a component of these lake.

Stocking sometime works quite well, often gives mediocre results, and sometimes does not work at all.

The Leech Lake Band has been rearing and stocking fish since 1984. We rear mostly Lake Whitefish and Walleyes. Lake Whitefish spawn in the fall and we get eggs from Leech Lake and Ball Club Lake where populations still exist. These eggs normally hatch about the time the ice goes out in the spring, but we speed them up and hatch them out around the first of the year. These fish are reared to fingerlings and stocked out in the spring once food is available.

The DRM rears walleyes under a Cooperative Agreement with the MN DNR. Under this arrangement we get eggs from the MN DNR and the resulting fry or fingerlings are stocked into waters on the reservation that are outlined under the agreement. Walleye eggs are collected in the spring of the year, incubated to about 15 days at which time they hatch. The fry, which are about a quarter inch long at hatch, are then stocked into lakes, or placed into rearing ponds where they grow over the summer. In the fall these fish are captured and stocked as fingerlings into area lakes. We annually produce around 10 million walleye fry and about 30,000 walleye fingerlings. Walleye are usually stocked at a frequency on an every-other or every-third year. Stocking walleye on an annual basis usually ends up being a waste of fry because the years will compete with each other for food and not do very well.

Over the years we have also reared some tullibee, white suckers, and even a few trout. A total of about 40 of our 250 lakes have been stocked over the years with about a dozen getting routinely stocked.

Tribal Court Fines Going Unpaid, Consequences to Come

The vast majority of traffic violations brought before Leech Lake Tribal Court resulting in fines remain unpaid in the amount of $271,825.28. This directly affects the operating costs for Tribal Court. And, in order to keep our communities safe, and bring those who disobey our tribal codes to justice, our Tribal Court depends on Band members paying their traffic fines. Without Band members paying their fines and holding themselves accountable Tribal Court operating costs will be underfunded. Thus, Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe will no longer be able to properly assert its tribal sovereignty in terms of a fully-functioning Tribal Court. The fines are used to pay for court and judicial staff along with a number of other very important programs that help keep our streets and Band members safe.

Leech Lake is considering different options in order to increase our Tribal Members' accountability in our Tribal Court system

a. One option involves sending traffic case defaults to the Minnesota DMV. Then if there is non-payment in Tribal Court, judges may prompt the MNDMV to act on behalf of the court and suspend your MN driver's license.

The driving offense may also go on your driving record which could cause your car insurance rates to increase.

b. Option two involves deducting the traffic fine from any Band member's check who is employed by the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe.

According to the Band's Traffic Code and Judicial Procedures Code, "any person issued a citation or summons to appear in the Leech Lake Tribal Court who fails to appear and/or fails to pay their fines shall be found in contempt of court." Tribal Court is authorized to do any or all of the following in order to enforce the penalties imposed:

1. Order the seizure and impoundment of the license plates of any vehicle driven or operated by a defendant at the time of the issuance of the fine
2. Order that the fine be reported to the Minnesota Department of Public Safety
3. Order the seizure and impoundment of any vehicle driven or operated by a defendant in the commission of the offense charged (the vehicle will be released upon payment of the fines)
4. Notify the Leech Lake Registrar of Motor Vehicles of the non-appearance or non-payment of fines and order that the amount due to be paid pursuant to the citation or judgment of the court be added to the fee charged for registration of any vehicle driven or operated in the commission of any offense or to any other vehicle the defendant seeks to register;
5. Issuance of a fine up to $500.00; and/or
6. Issuance of a body warrant pending a hearing before the court.

Tribal sovereignty is of the Band's most important defining right and representative characteristic. Leech Lake has increased sovereignty and jurisdiction through the enactment of tribal codes and tribal court procedures as well as through federal mandate. Payment of these penalties is vital in enforcing our tribal laws and thus exercising our sovereignty.

The Band is considering enforcing all of the measures mentioned above which have been proven increasingly necessary in order to enforce Band members compliance. The Legal Department and the Tribal Court urge any individual with an outstanding fine to make arrangements to pay that outstanding amount as soon as possible. Please contact the Legal Department at 218-335-3673 if you have any questions.

With a new approach to our fiscal well-being, let me expand on the details of our programs that have stopped the overspending and have actually come in under their budgets: Further details regarding our spending cuts and budgets are located on the right half of this page and continue to the paragraph below.

Overall these graphs and charts indicate that during this last fiscal year the Tribal Council, Executive Staff, Division Directors (as well as their staffs) are all working diligently on keeping expenditures down and increasing revenue. This past fiscal year the Band has demonstrated that fiscal management is important in order for the Band to make progress toward our goals. Overall the revenues are exceeding the expenditures by approximately $11.3 million. Our Divisions are continuing their efforts to manage their budgets and work together in a collaborative fashion on projects and the proof is in the numbers. ## Knutson Dam Replacement Project

Knutson Dam, at the outlet of Cass Lake, was built in the early 1900s as a logging dam by the J. Neils Logging Company. It was purchased by the US Forest Service Dam in 1926 and they have been responsible for operation and maintenance ever since. The dam was rebuilt in 1928 and repaired a number of times over the years. The dam is once again in need of some major work. This gives us an opportunity to do something different and address some of the problems associated with the current dam design. The current issues include:

The dam is a barrier to fish passage most of the time

Due to the design of the dam fish are unable to move up the Mississippi River from Winnie to the lakes and rivers upstream. This prevents them from spawning in the upper waterbodies where they would contribute to healthy fish populations. This dam is also a barrier to the Greater Redhorse migration. The last significant population of the species on the Reservation piles up below the dam each year and is unable to move further upstream to spawn.

Greater Redhorse, bottom, is much larger and less common than the Shorthead (Northern) Redhorse, top.

The dam cannot handle high flow rates

The current dam design cannot handle high flow rates that periodically occur when large rain events happen in the Upper Mississippi Watershed. When this happens water backs up on Cass Lake and the shoreline is flooded. This flooding contributes to shoreline erosion, exposure of archeological sites, including human remains, and a decline in water quality.

The dam does not do a good job of handling low flows

The design of this dam dumps water out the bottom of the gates instead of the top. This design makes it difficult to regulate for low flow rates. This sometimes results in lake levels dropping below desired levels on Cass Lake.

The dam has high maintenance and operation costs

It is expensive to operate and maintain this dam due to its design. Better options are available.

Knutson Dam renovation options

Within the next few months the Chippewa National Forest will initiate public scoping and Environmental Review of this project so issues and dam replacement options can be identified. They will be meeting with the LICs and other concerned citizens on the project and design features people are interested in. Whatever design is selected it will incorporate the current operating levels that are outlined in the Reservoir Operating Plan Evaluation that is currently in place.

One of the options that has been identified, and the one DRM is most supportive of, is the replacement of the dam with a series of rock riffles that will alleviate water level issues associated with the dam and more importantly restore fish passage. This technique involves installing a series of rock layers in the area of the existing dam that maintain water levels and "stair step" the drop in water level. A fixed crest concrete shallow "V" structure may also be incorporated into this project if needed. This structure would also be covered by rock. By design these structures can handle a much higher water volume that the existing dam during high flow events as well as low flow events. Since this design amounts to a series of "pool-riffles" fish are able to easily pass over the obstruction. This type of design can also incorporate shore fishing opportunities that are somewhat lacking in this part of the State as well as other recreational opportunities.

Rock structure dam replacement projects have been completed on a number of locations around the country with many of them in Minnesota. Some of the ones on the Red River of the North and the Red Lake River are most comparable to this project although some of these can handle much higher flow volumes. Some smaller projects of this type have been completed on the Chippewa National Forest and there is also a nice example at the outlet of Three Island Lake just west of the Reservation. This type of project also looks to be much cheaper than other options.

The DRM may also have some opportunities to obtain grant funding for this project and become an active partner in the development and implementation of this project. We are requesting RTC support of this project and the DRM's involvement in it.

2013 Rx Drug Drop Program

The National Association of Drug Diversion Investigators (NADDI) for the third consecutive year has received sponsorship from Endo Pharmaceuticals for our 2013 national Rx Drug Drop Box program. The 2013 application process ended June 30, 2013. Leech Lake Tribal Police Officer Vincent Brown and Criminal Investigator John Littlewolf were instrumental in this process and were successful in obtaining a free drop box. This drop box will be located at the Leech Lake Tribal Police Department 6242 U.S. Hwy#2 in the main lobby for the public to access 24/7. Please see attached guidelines for use of the drop box.

Most prescription medications should not be flushed down the toilet or thrown into the trash. The NADDI Rx Drug Drop Box program addresses a vital public health and safety issue. Medicines that languish in home medicine cabinets are highly susceptible to diversion, misuse, and abuse. Rates of prescription drug abuse in the U.S. are alarmingly high. Studies show that individuals that abuse prescription drugs often obtain them from family and friends, including from the home medicine cabinets.

Through a grant from Endo Pharmaceuticals, the NADDI Rx Drug Drop Box program will increase the ability for patients to easily and properly dispose of unneeded, expired, or unwanted medicines. The box is in response to our successful 2011 Rx Drug Drop Box Program and Take Back events in which millions of dosage units of medicine has been collected from patients and to the growing number of expired, unused and unwanted pharmaceuticals in the home.

There is a great need for a permanent solution in which these medicines can be properly disposed of quickly and anonymously. The secure mailbox style box can be permanently located inside law enforcement agencies where patients can walk in and deposit their unwanted, expired medicines during normal business hours.

The law enforcement agency must agree to certain guidelines to ensure that the boxes are not tampered with in any way, and to provide a regular schedule for removing the prescription drugs that are deposited by their citizens. These drugs will then be handled in the same manner that other licit and illicit drugs are handled by law enforcement, likely with a court order to destroy the unwanted medications, leading to the ultimate proper destruction.
